Styles doesn't work inside nested route

I have few routes in my website and I use the same layout with linked styles for all of my pages.

For example in route `/` or `/abc` or `/other` my layout and styles works good. However, if I load route `/other/abc` my layout still works but my styles don't load.

Here's some code:

My layout :

```
<!DOCTYPE html>
<html>
<head>
  <meta charset="utf-8">
  <title>Express MVC Example</title>
  <link rel="stylesheet" href="style.css">
</head>
<body>
  <ul class="menu">
    <li>home</li>
    ...
    <li>other/abc</li>
  </ul>

  {{{ body }}}
</body>
</html>
```

This is my other route controllers :

import express from 'express'

export default (app) => {
  const api = express.Router();

  api.get('/', (req, res) => {
    console.log('client connected');
    res.render('other/main');

  api.get('/abc', (req, res) => {
    res.render('other/abc');
  });

  return api

How do you serve your static file, `style.css` in this case, to client? – kkkkkkk Apr 24 '18 at 10:37

@Khang This way: `app.use(express.static(path.join(__dirname, 'static')));` –

Problem is at how you specify the `style.css` link in your html, I think this will solve it:

1 `<link rel="stylesheet" href="/style.css">`

If that does not work, look at this link Relative path in HTML (actually you should look at it anyway)
